Stonehouse 27 Cooking Sauces

When you're too busy to whip up a gourmet meal completely from scratch, it's nice to have some high quality and all-natural assistance waiting for you in the pantry. Stonehouse 27 produces a line of Portuguese and Anglo-influenced Indian cooking sauces made with fresh ingredients and spices.

Each sauce is available in varying degrees of spiciness (mild, medium, hot and hot and sweet), and they contain no added salt, artificial flavors or preservatives.

Editors' Pick

We sampled the Tamarind & Garlic, the Cashews & Cream, the Tomato & Chilies and the Cilantro & Coconut. The sauces lend themselves beautifully to a variety of poultry, seafood, meat and vegetarian dishes.

For example, the Cashews & Cream worked really well as a curry-like base for stir-fried chicken, broccoli and cauliflower over rice. The Cilantro & Coconut sauce pairs really well with a mild white fish like tilapia.

Each sauce variety has pairing suggestions right on the label, and Stonehouse 27 has some great recipe ideas on their site, as well.

If you enjoy the sophisticated layering of flavors and spices that is common in Indian cuisine, definitely stock up on some cooking sauces from Stonehouse 27 - they're incredibly versatile, fresh tasting and a real help in the kitchen when you're pressed for time.
